

Artificer

ARTIST: JUSTINE FLORENTINO

They call me when the airship stalls mid-descent, when the arcane relay spirals out of phase, or when the golem starts speaking in languages it wasn't programmed to know. Don't mind the dents—took a few kicks to get her started, is all. Still works lovely. Just... don't stand too close when she hums like that, and if she starts whistling in B flat—RUN!

Your workshop might be a cluttered shrine to chaos or an immaculate studio thrumming with pristine energy—whatever the setting, the Artificer gets to work. Some call you a mad tinkerer—a hazard to public safety. Others speak in hushed awe of your sleek designs, machines tuned with impossible precision.

Your genius is fueled by raw instinct and sharpened calculation. You don't build for show. You don't build for fame. You build because it's who you are—and the world needs what you can make.

- Engineer the Impossible. Wield creations that defy reality—from mana-forged blades, gravity-snaring tethercoils, to boots that laugh at gravity.
- Power at a Price. Mana Dice fuel your creations. The more you roll, the more they deliver—but push too far and your gear might rebel. Malfunctions, explosions, and rogue constructs are just the cost of dancing on the edge of genius.
- Tinker's Instinct. Retool gadgets mid-battle or improvising fixes under fire. Whether it's a jury-rigged patch or a flawless recalibration, you adapt your arsenal with a spark of chaos or a surgeon's precision, always one step ahead of disaster.
